ANTWERP SURRENDERS TO THE GERMANS ON FRIDAY

GERMANS CAPTURE ANTWERP

London Rumor Lacks Confirmation.

STORY MAY PROVE TRUE

Situation in Belgian City Has Been Regarded Critical.

London, Oct. 10.—Antwerp has fallen before the assault of the Germans, according to information from "good authority" reaching the Morning Post. The official press bureau says it is unable to confirm the report and Count de la Laing, Belgian minister to Great Britain, says he has received no confirmation.

The situation in the Belgian city has been regarded as critical and an official announcement of its surrender has not been unexpected. A telegram from Antwerp to the Daily Chronicle, dated Thursday, says every sign indicated the city was falling.

"The main streets are deserted," the correspondent wired, "but there are 20,000 panicky people on the quays and around the railroad station waiting to leave. The town is in flames throughout the southern section and no attempt is being made to quench them."

A later dispatch from Rösendaal, Holland, calls the situation critical and says the town virtually is deserted except for the Belgian troops.

"Every house here," the message continues, "is packed to the roof with refugees and others are camping around the railroad stations. Antwerp's civil guard was disbanded Wednesday."

Stubborn fighting is proceeding before the Antwerp fortifications, the Daily Mail's Ostend correspondent telegraphed under date of Friday. His message is more optimistic.

"Four assaults have been repulsed at No. 4 at Vleudieu," he wires. "The bombardment of the town appears to be diminishing somewhat in intensity. According to the latest advices the Belgians made a successful sortie from Antwerp, which resulted in the capture of 3,000 Germans and forced the enemy to recross the river Nethe, abandoning their guns at Linth."

The Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Telegraph also sends reassuring news. "A more hopeful view prevails here regarding Antwerp," he telegraphs. "Refugees from that city declare that not one German soldier has entered the place."

FIGHTING IN EAST PRUSSIA

Russian General Staff Claims Two German Defeats.

Petrograd, Oct. 10.—The following official statement has been given out by the general staff:

"Our troops on the East Prussian border Thursday continued to press the enemy, who had formed two fighting groups."

"The first group was operating in the region of Vladislavoff and Wirbalen (both towns in the government of Suwalki, Russian Poland). Our troops dislodged them from Vladislavoff and surrounded them on the north."

"The second group of the enemy, a very strong one, commenced an energetic attack in the vicinity of Ratchaka lake and Bakalarzewo (East Prussia). Our troops captured by successful assaults the positions which the enemy was trying to hold."

SLAYS FATHER AND STOCK

Labored Under Hallucination He Was Killing Demons.

New London, Mo., Oct. 10.—Laboring under the hallucination he was killing demons, as he afterward said, Claiborne Countz shot and killed his father and then shot four cows, two horses, two dogs and a cat at Hydeburg, near here. Countz mutilated his father's head with an axe to make certain of death.

Countz is thirty-one years old, unmarried and lived with his parents on a farm. Sheriff Pritchett arrested Countz and placed him in jail here.

BOSTON BRAVES WIN FIRST

Defeat the Philadelphia Athletics by Score of Seven to One.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Playing with the same sensational speed that marked their rush from last place to the position of pennant winners in the National league the Boston Braves crushed the Philadelphia Athletics here in the first game of the world's series by a score of seven runs to one.

Although the newly constructed baseball machine of "Miracle Man" Stallings wobbled once or twice it never left the track and under the guiding hand of Pitcher Rudolph crashed through Connie Mack's championship Athletics, scattering dismay and disappointment in its trail.

THREE SOLDIERS PUT GERMANS TO FLIGHT

French Scouts Surprise Troops at Their Dinner.

Bordeaux, Oct. 10.—The story of how three French soldiers captured two German quick fliers and put to flight two companies of German infantry is related in a letter sent home by the captain of a company of infantry which is fighting on the Alsace.

Two corporals and a private, in reconnoitering, crawled within ten yards of the German trenches. Most of the German soldiers were away to get their dinners and the officers were some distance back of the guns.

The three Frenchmen sprang into the trenches and turned the guns on the unsuspecting Germans, who fled, communicating the panic to two companies. French artillerymen who had been watching the proceedings then opened fire and exterminated the Germans.

The same night the two corporals were made second lieutenants and the soldier a sergeant major as a reward for their daring.

Takes Down Tariff Bars. Vienna, Austria, Oct. 10.—The government gave notice that the collection of duties on corn, flour and vegetables entering Austria had been temporarily suspended.

TWO KILLED WHEN AIRCRAFT CAPSIZES.

London, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that through the capsizing of an aeroplane in which they were making a reconnaissance Lieutenant Noel and a passenger named Emmer lost their lives.

They were flying at an altitude of 4,000 feet when the machine, for some unknown reason, turned over and fell.

Another aviator named Garlex, holder of many world's aviation records, has been taken prisoner and is in Berlin.

Special to Dispatch:

The Hague, Oct. 10, 11:15 a. m.—Antwerp surrendered to the Germans at two-thirty Friday afternoon. The war flag was removed from the cathedral and the white flag raised in its place at nine in the morning. The actual surrender took place five and one-half hours later.

ZEPPELIN ATTACK ON ENGLAND NEXT

Special to The Dispatch:

London, October 10 (3 p. m.)—England fears Germany will use Antwerp as a base for the Zeppelin attack on England and France admits the fall of Antwerp will result in sending German reinforcements to the battle line in France. The French report that fighting continues in Northern France under satisfactory conditions and claim material progress in the region of St. Mihiel and to the north of the river Oise. Spirited fighting continues on the frontiers of east Prussia, both Russians and Germans advantage.

BREAK RUSSIAN INVASION CULMINATION OF BLUNDERS

Austrian General Staff Makes an Announcement.

London, Oct. 12.—The following official statement has been received by wireless from Berlin by the Marconi company:

"The Austrian general staff announces the complete breakup of the Russian invasion of Hungary. The recent attacks on Przemyśl were repulsed with terrible loss to the enemy. The defense of the fort is being conducted by the garrison with the greatest skill."

"The Russians have been cleared from the Carpathians to the western ridge of Wyukow. The Austrian troops have retaken Marmaros Sziget, Hungary."

"There is nothing to report from the East Prussian frontier."

LORD COWDRAY'S SON KILLED

Geoffrey Pearson Had Been Motorcycle Dispatch Bearer.

London, Oct. 10.—The Express confirms the report that the Hon. Geoffrey Pearson, third son of Lord Cowdray, British contractor and financier, has been killed in battle. He was acting as a motorcycle dispatch bearer with the army service corps and with another motorcycleist was captured by Uhlans, who were attacked by the allies.

Pearson and his companion made a dash for liberty and were fired on by the Germans. Pearson was hit and died instantly.

KING OF BELGIUM SLIGHTLY WOUNDED.

London, Oct. 10.—A wireless message from Berlin says that it is reported there that King Albert of Belgium has been wounded slightly.

DESTROY GERMAN ZEPPELIN

British Air Squadron Drops Bombs at Dusseldorf.

London, Oct. 10.—The following official statement was issued covering an attack by a British air squadron on a German airship shed at Dusseldorf: "The secretary of the admiralty announces that Squadron Commander Grey reports that, as authorized, he carried out, with Lieutenants R. L. G. Marx and S. V. Zipp, a successful attack on a Dusseldorf airship shed. Lieutenant Marx's bombs, dropped from a height of 500 feet, hit the shed, went through the roof and destroyed a Zeppelin."

"Flames were observed 500 feet high, the result of the igniting of the gas of an airship."

"All three officers are safe, but their aeroplanes have been lost."

Another Belgian Protest.

London, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says: "The Belgian government has addressed to the neutral powers a vehement protest against the action of Germany in monopolizing all the foodstuffs found in Brussels and its environs by reducing the native population to famine."

Canadian Officer Dead.

London, Oct. 10.—Colonel Jeffrey Hale Durland, who arrived here a few days ago in charge of the Red Cross work in connection with the Canadian troops, died suddenly. Colonel Durland was born in Montreal in 1861. He was a well known manufacturer.

NO CHANGE IN FRANCE

Reports From Opposing Armies Agree.

HOPE TO AID ANTWERP

British and French Forces Extending Their Lines.

London, Oct. 10.—On the battle in France the German and French reports agree there has been no change in the situation, although the French say they have made some little progress near St. Mihiel and in the Argonne.

It is, however, on the other wing, in Northeastern France and across the Belgian border, that interest centers. Here a battle is in progress on a line from Lassigny northward through Roye, Bray-Sur-Somme, Arras and Lens, while the cavalry is operating north of Lille.

Thus the main armies of the allies are facing eastward and the Germans to the west along a front that the British and French hope to extend right through Belgium to Antwerp, thus forcing an opening for the garrison of the fortress.

Further south the Germans, having withstood the allies' attempt to outflank them, have been delivering counter strokes, first at Roye and Lassigny, where the French tried to get through the German lines of communication, and then at Arras, where they tried again to get through Cambrai to the railway line at Le Cateau. Before these counter strokes the French had to give ground, which they since claim to have regained.

Failing to break the allies' lines General von Kluck attempted to outflank them by sending a large force of cavalry around Lens to the rear of the French at Lille. Here the fighting is going on still and no decisive result has been attained.

Meanwhile both armies have withdrawn troops from this center and the weakening of the German line north of the Aisne is said to have allowed the British to make two advances, in one of which stone quarries were taken which the Germans had held for nearly a month.

Much is considered to depend upon the length of the siege at Antwerp. Every day the Belgians hold out is reckoned by the military strategists here as a day gained by the allies. The strategists argue that as soon as the fortress is captured or capitulates a German army of 125,000 men will be dispatched to the assistance of General von Kluck and that their numbers will tell.

AUSTRIA PREPARES TO MOVE COURT.

London, Oct. 10.—A Central News dispatch from Rome says:

"The Innsbruck, Austria, correspondent of the Messagero states that the imperial palace and other public buildings there are being prepared as quarters for the court and ministries in event of the transfer of the capital."

STATE GUARD TO TURN OUT

North Dakota's Admission to Union Will Be Celebrated.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 10.—Militia companies in the western section of the state will take part in a big celebration here Oct. 20 in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of statehood. A big program has been arranged in connection with the North Dakota industrial exposition here.

Austrian Battalion Cut Up.

London, Oct. 10.—A Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says a message from Budapest announces the almost complete annihilation of an Austrian battalion of Czechs in a fierce encounter with the Russians during the latter's advance on Marmaros-Sziget. Every soldier in the battalion was either killed or wounded, it is said.

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ.

Will Assume Command of the German Fleet.

AFTER FALL OF ANTWERP

Germany Will Then Begin Attack on Great Britain.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The war against Great Britain, according to German newspapers received here, will begin at the end of October, after Antwerp has fallen.

Belgium then will become the base of operations against Great Britain, the newspapers say. They add that Admiral von Tirpitz, the minister of the navy, who now is at general headquarters with Emperor William, has announced that he will go aboard the flagship of the German fleet and direct the operations of the navy.

INTERVIEW MAY GET OFFICER IN TROUBLE

Will Probably Be Called Upon to Explain.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Prompt explanation of statements concerning German military movements and alleged atrocities by German soldiers credited to Captain Le Vert Coleman, United States army, one of the twenty officers returning to New York from Europe, where they were sent to assist Americans out of the war zone, will be demanded, in the opinion of war department officials.

Captain Coleman was quoted as saying that he was with the right wing of the allied armies at the battle of the Marne and that there were 5,000,000 engaged in the battle.

Officials believe the captain's alleged interview to be in direct violation of the president's order that army and navy officers refrain from partisan discussion of the European war while it is in progress.

"The German retreat was due to lack of food supplies and ammunition," Captain Coleman is quoted as saying. "The Germans will never again get as near to Paris as they have been. The French artillery, as I observed it, was superior to that of the Germans; but the German cavalry was better than that of the French."

BANDITS MURDER JEWELER

Shoot Brooklyn Man Who Made an Outcry.

New York, Oct. 10.—Three armed highwaymen entered the jewelry store of Joseph Saresky, on Broadway, in Brooklyn, tied his hands, beat and clubbed him and swept a quantity of matches and jewelry from his sleeves into a bag.

As they fled Saresky made an outcry. One of them turned and shot the jeweler twice. Saresky was taken in a dying condition to a hospital.

Two of the highwaymen made their escape with the booty by means of an automobile. The third was overpowered.

French Bond Issue Great Success.

Bordeaux, Oct. 10.—Minister of Finance Ribot announces that the issue of the national defense bonds was more than successful. From Sept. 15 to Oct. 5, $45,550,460 was subscribed by the public.

BELGIUM PROTESTS

Famine Is Imminent in Brussels.

BLAMES GERMAN ARMY

Little Monarchy Lays Case Before Neutral Powers.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Belgian minister filed with the state department a protest from his government against the threatened famine in Brussels said to be due to the ravages caused by the German army. The message says:

"The civil authorities of the Brussels agglomeration inform the government that Brussels faces famine. Violating once more the rights of mankind and article 43 of the fourth convention of The Hague the German army, after having taken away from the population an important part of its resources, is getting ready to let it starve. The same information is coming from Namur and Luxembourg."

"The Brussels agglomeration" is the name given to the city and the surrounding suburbs, which are formed into one civil community.

The Belgian protest recalled to officials here the reported efforts of United States Minister Brand Whitlock at Brussels to arrange for the delivery to the population of that city of a large amount of supplies held in England.

The British government is said to have refused permission to export the supplies unless guaranteed that they would not be used by German soldiers.

Under The Hague convention the maintenance of the civilian population of a captured territory is a duty resting upon the captors. It was said here that if conditions in Brussels are as stated in the Belgian protest it is evident that Germany lacked supplies there for more than her own army and this made the relief of the Belgians a more difficult problem, as foodstuffs will be liable to seizure for the fighting men.

Viscount Acheson Wounded.

London, Oct. 10.—Viscount Acheson, a lieutenant in the Coldstream guards, is among those named in the list of wounded made public. In 1910 Viscount Acheson married Miss Mildred Carter, daughter of John Ridgley Carter, former first secretary of the American embassy in London.

Prepare for Exchange.

Paris, Oct. 10.—The government is assembling exact information regarding the identity of 70,000 German prisoners now in French hands, with the object of exchanging this data with the German authorities for similar facts regarding French prisoners.

PRIMARY INQUIRY IS ASKED

Manager for Coe I. Crawford Gets Some Assurance.

Washington, Oct. 10.—An investigation of the recent South Dakota senatorial primaries is being urged by H. S. Shober, campaign manager for Coe I. Crawford.

Shober alleges that certain railroads and a big mining company were potent factors in the selection of Representative Charles S. Burke over Crawford.

Senator Kern of Indiana, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, told Mr. Shober that the proposed investigation will be considered later.

PRAISES AMERICAN PRESS

English Militant Suffragette Commends Its Fairness.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 10.—"The fairness of the American newspapers is, to my mind, one of the most striking features I found on my tour of the United States," said Miss Annie Kennedy, English militant suffragette, in an interview at Grand Forks. "In England the suffrage cause is given little or no attention and the manner in which the newspapers of the United States give it consideration is in marked contrast. I have been greatly surprised, as well as pleased, at this

David Starr Jordan Condemns European War.

Stanford University, Cal., Oct. 10.—"The present war is a culmination of all the horrors, blunders and crimes of the war system," said David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford university, in the first address he has delivered since his return from Europe, where he was sent in the interests of world peace. Referring to the last peace conference Dr. Jordan remarked:

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ.

Will Assume Command of the German Fleet.

AFTER FALL OF ANTWERP

Germany Will Then Begin Attack on Great Britain.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The war against Great Britain, according to German newspapers received here, will begin at the end of October, after Antwerp has fallen.

Belgium then will become the base of operations against Great Britain, the newspapers say. They add that Admiral von Tirpitz, the minister of the navy, who now is at general headquarters with Emperor William, has announced that he will go aboard the flagship of the German fleet and direct the operations of the navy.

INTERVIEW MAY GET OFFICER IN TROUBLE

Will Probably Be Called Upon to Explain.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Prompt explanation of statements concerning German military movements and alleged atrocities by German soldiers credited to Captain Le Vert Coleman, United States army, one of the twenty officers returning to New York from Europe, where they were sent to assist Americans out of the war zone, will be demanded, in the opinion of war department officials.

Captain Coleman was quoted as saying that he was with the right wing of the allied armies at the battle of the Marne and that there were 5,000,000 engaged in the battle.

Officials believe the captain's alleged interview to be in direct violation of the president's order that army and navy officers refrain from partisan discussion of the European war while it is in progress.

"The German retreat was due to lack of food supplies and ammunition," Captain Coleman is quoted as saying. "The Germans will never again get as near to Paris as they have been. The French artillery, as I observed it, was superior to that of the Germans; but the German cavalry was better than that of the French."

BANDITS' MURDER JEWELER

Shoot Brooklyn Man Who Made an Outcry.

New York, Oct. 10.—Three armed highwaymen entered the jewelry store of Joseph Saresky, on Broadway, in Brooklyn, tied his hands, beat and clubbed him and swept a quantity of matches and jewelry from his sleeves into a bag.

As they fled Saresky made an outcry. One of them turned and shot the jeweler twice. Saresky was taken in a dying condition to a hospital.

Two of the highwaymen made their escape with the booty by means of an automobile. The third was overpowered.

French Bond Issue Great Success.

Bordeaux, Oct. 10.—Minister of Finance Ribot announces that the issue of the national defense bonds was more than successful. From Sept. 15 to Oct. 5, $45,550,490 was subscribed by the public.

BELGIUM PROTESTS

Famine Is Imminent in Brussels.

BLAMES GERMAN ARMY

Little Monarchy Lays Case Before Neutral Powers.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Belgian minister filed with the state department a protest from his government against the threatened famine in Brussels said to be due to the ravages caused by the German army. The message says:

"The civil authorities of the Brussels agglomeration inform the government that Brussels faces famine. Violating once more the rights of mankind and article 43 of the fourth convention of The Hague the German army, after having taken away from the population an important part of its resources, is getting ready to let it starve. The same information is coming from Namur and Lieuxberg."

"The Brussels agglomeration" is the name given to the city and the surrounding suburbs, which are formed into one civil community.

The Belgian protest recalled to officials here the reported efforts of United States Minister Brand Whitlock at Brussels to arrange for the delivery to the population of that city of a large amount of supplies held in England.

The British government is said to have refused permission to export the supplies unless guaranteed that they would not be used by German soldiers.

Under The Hague convention the maintenance of the civilian population of a captured territory is a duty resting upon the captors. It was said here that if conditions in Brussels are as stated in the Belgian protest it is evident that Germany lacked supplies there for more than her own army and this made the relief of the Belgians a more difficult problem, as foodstuffs will be liable to seizure for the fighting men.

Viscount Acheson Wounded.

London, Oct. 10.—Viscount Acheson, a lieutenant in the Coldstream guards, is among those named in the list of wounded made public. In 1910 Viscount Acheson married Miss Mildred Carter, daughter of John Ridgley Carter, former first secretary of the American embassy in London.

Prepare for Exchange.

Paris, Oct. 10.—The government is assembling exact information regarding the identity of 70,000 German prisoners now in French hands, with the object of exchanging this data with the German authorities for similar facts regarding French prisoners.

PRIMARY INQUIRY IS ASKED

Manager for Coe I. Crawford Gets Some Assurance.

Washington, Oct. 10.—An investigation of the recent South Dakota senatorial primaries is being urged by H. S. Shober, campaign manager for Coe I. Crawford.

Shober alleges that certain railroads and a big mining company were potent factors in the selection of Representative Charles S. Burke over Crawford.

Senator Kern of Indiana, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, told Mr. Shober that the proposed investigation will be considered later.

English Militant Suffragette Commends Its Fairness.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 10.—"The fairness of the American newspapers is, to my mind, one of the most striking features I found on my tour of the United States," said Miss Annie Kennedy, English militant suffragette, in an interview at Grand Forks. "In England the suffrage cause is given little or no attention and the manner in which the newspapers of the United States give it consideration is in marked contrast. I have been greatly surprised, as well as pleased, at this feature."

EMPTY HOUSES AT MONTREAL

Business of all Kinds is Depressed in Canada as a Result of the War,
Salaries Reduced

Mrs. C. G. Fortier of Montreal, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Vasaly in this city and she makes some interesting statements in regard to conditions in the Canadian city, due to the European war, says the Little Falls Transcript.

One effect of the war, and perhaps the most striking, is the large number of vacant residence buildings in Montreal. Last winter practically every residence in that city was occupied and at present there are about 4,000 homes without tenants.

Business houses in Montreal, according to Mrs. Fortier, have reduced salaries 25 per cent, and many firms have discharged a large number of their employees. Money is very hard to obtain and firms and persons whose credit was almost unlimited before the war are able to borrow only a few thousand dollars.

WANTS BRITISH GUARANTEE

Montana Senator Suggests Plan to

Washington, Oct. 10.—Senator Walsh of Montana suggested to the president that Great Britain be required to solicit guarantees from neutral nations that they would not permit consignments of American copper to get into the hands of belligerent nations.

The state department is seeking such guarantees from Norway, Sweden and Italy, but the senator believes England should do this.

"There is no reason why friendly nations should not continue trading in copper," the senator said. "Yet England has undertaken to interfere with all shipments of American copper to neutral nations. There is no extraordinary shipment of American copper and none of it is going to belligerents through neutral nations."

For Sunday we present "Circle 17."
Since certain daily journals took upon themselves a jaundiced complexion, tales of the Italian Black Hand have threaded their way through our literature. Sometimes we have believed these stories and sometimes we have not. Nevertheless, the man who knows real conditions will tell you that the power of secret societies is wide and far-reaching.

"Circle 17" draws a vivid picture of a famous Italian secret organization—tells a gripping human-interest story of love and adventure and intrigue. It was staged and directed by Otis Turner at the Universal's Pacific Coast studios. Mr. Turner, who is a peer in the producing of sensational, unusual dramas, has put his best effort into this piece. It was written by Phil Walsh, who has writ-has been interpreted by a splendid

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Columbia

The management in very few words wish to assure the readers of the Dispatch that today, Sunday and Monday two better programs could hardly be brought together. They are absolutely sure of each and every picture and a more profitable evening could never be spent. There are times when mere words can hardly convey to the public the real merits of certain productions. A dollar show for a dime will not only hold true for the next few days but will continue all next week. In the future music will have stricter attention than at any time in the past.
New music is arriving daily.

At the Grand

Again tonight we are showing the much celebrated European war slides.
These pictures are direct and exclusive to the Grand from the American Press association which is the only authentic news depot of the world.
From now on we feature these slides every Wednesday and Thursday.
Florence Lawrence in "Honor of the Humble" and Mary Pickford starring in "Love's Refrain" with King Bag-got make up again the largest dollar bill for 10c that was ever given.
For Sunday we present "Circle 17."
Since certain daily journals took upon themselves a jaundiced complexion,
tales of the Italian Black Hand have threaded their way through our literature. Sometimes we have believed these stories and sometimes we have not. Nevertheless, the man who knows real conditions will tell you that the power of secret societies is wide and far-reaching.

"Circle 17" draws a vivid picture
of a famous Italian secret organization—tells a gripping human-interest story of love and adventure and intrigue. It was staged and directed by Otis Turner at the Universal's Pacific Coast studios. Mr. Turner, who is a peer in the producing of sensational, unusual dramas, has put his best effort into this piece. It was written by Phil Walsh, who has written many Universal successes, and it has been interpreted by a splendid cast of players, headed by Mr. Rawlinson and Anna Little.
Professor Bartoli has incurred the enmity of the society. With his

TENDERED RECEPTION

ven Friday Evening at the Swedish Mission Church For Rev. Theodore Clemens

A reception was given Rev. Theodore Clemens and wife and little daughter at the Swedish Mission church on Friday evening. Rev. Clemens recently arrived from Kansas City, Mo., and has accepted the pastorate of the Swedish Mission church of this city. He will reside with his family at 505 Eleventh street, Southeast.

Rev. Clemens was presented with a purse by the members of the congregation.

This program was rendered:
Song by the congregation.
Scripture readings and prayer by John Soderlund.
Song by the choir.

Violin solo by Lester Bredenberg.

Welcoming address and presentation of purse, John Soderlund.

Duet by Miss Esther Fogelstrom and Miss Bessie Bredenberg.

Address by Rev. A. B. Colvin of Swedish Baptist church.

Address by Rev. M. L. Hostager of Seventh Street Norwegian Lutheran church.

Piano solo by Miss Jennie Wilson.

Response by Rev. Clemens.

Violin solo by Lester Bredenberg.

Song by the choir.

Benediction, Rev. Clemens.

Song by the congregation.

After the program light refreshments were served and a general reception had.

Rev. Clemens will hold his first service on Sunday morning at 10:30 and in the evening at 7:30. He extends a cordial invitation to everybody to attend all the services at this church.

The Busy Bees

The Busy Bee society of the Swedish Lutheran church will give a supper and auction sale at Walker hall Friday evening, October 16. The menu includes the hett kaffe for which the society is famous and also a toothsome kott buller.

GLADYS SMITH

Little Gladys Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Smith. She was six years old when the above picture, representing her as Cupid, was photographed. The picture makes a pretty child's study.

The Bride's Veil

Chicago Herald: If she is American-classical featured, let her adopt the mode which permits the tulle or lace to flow from a flatly-placed bandeau of lilies-of-the-valley or orange blossoms; if Oriental (meaning full of face and rather bluntly featured) she will be at her best in the coronet or Russian bandeau which stands high above the brow and gives length to the face, while the folds of the veil will be brought somewhat forward at the sides of the face; if of the severe medieval type which quite frequently is red-haired and blue-eyed, albeit narrow and regular of feature, she should adopt the veil arrangement which permits the filmy folds to be fluffed out over the ears and brought rather low upon the forehead, only showing a curled fringe; and if she is infantile featured and at times resembles an over-grown baby, she should have the cap. The latter forms a frilly halo about the upper half of the face and is quite flat at the top of the head.

Zoellner Quartet

A large number of tickets have been sold for the Zoellner quartet concert which will be given at Elks hall this evening under the auspices of the Brainerd Musical club.

The first violin is played by Miss Antoinette Zoellner. In a report of a concert at Oklahoma City, the Daily Oklahoman says that like a truly modern Eve, the woman of the quartet dominated the group. Unobtrusive dominance it was, however, for though the scores she played demanded a virtuoso's dexterity (which she undoubtedly possesses) it was hardly possible to think of any one performer in that light or even to follow any one instrument singly, so completely did the four merge themselves into a general voice and a single utterance. The nuances in Genius Loci by them were so beautifully made as to almost defy description.

The Buffalo Express states these players were heard earlier in the season, at the University Club, and the favorable impression they made at that time was further enhanced by a later recital. The quartet showed the merits of excellent intonation, and there was also present a spontaneity and vitality of performance, as if the players loved their work and put themselves into it with heart and soul.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. A. J. Loom went to Motley this noon to visit her parents.

Mrs. F. E. Potter, of Duluth, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Farrar.

Mrs. P. W. Donovan entertained informally at tea on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lowry are visiting at the home of Mrs. Lowry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Parker.

Miss Mae Belle Grewcox will entertain the Bachelor Maids at her home on North Fourth street Monday evening.

Mrs. Rudolph J. Hartley, Mrs. Randolph A. Beise and Mrs. Carl Zappfe will entertain at the Citizens State bank hall on Thursday afternoon, October 15th. A program will be rendered by Maud Pratt Crane, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone at the piano.

Shower for Bride-to-be

Miss Florence Smith and Miss Mabel Smith entertained Friday evening in honor of their sister, Miss Louise Smith, a bride-to-be of the month. Twenty guests were present and she was showered with many handsome presents of linen, etc.

The evening was spent in music and social converse. Miss May B. Bruce played a piano solo, Miss Mabel Smith and Miss Ida Hoffbauer a piano duet and Miss May B. Bruce and Miss Ida Hoffbauer a piano duet.

After this program there were games and singing. Mrs. Wilbur Smith and Mrs. George Smith assisted in serving a dainty lunch. The tables were decorated with carnations and ferns and at each guest's place was a hand-painted place card. A very pleasant evening was spent by all.

Surprise Party Surprised

Members of the Court of Honor wished to surprise a brother and sister member Friday evening and when all preparations were fully under way were informed that the gentleman and lady to be surprised had removed from their former location. The telephone wires were kept warm calling in the surprise party, but from all accounts two members were missed. As it was the whole surprise party was upset and more surprised than the people they intended to surprise.

Parcel Shower

A parcel shower was given in honor of Miss Marie Hass, on Friday evening, by Mrs. Albert Eshman and Miss Louise Gartner. Miss Hass is to be an October bride.

A musical program was rendered, including piano solos by the Misses Florence Zabel, Mable Mudge, Clara Ebingner, Phoebe Appgar and Josie Swanson, and a vocal solo by Miss Edna Swanson.

The bride-to-be received many pretty and useful presents, which were presented to her in a large decorated basket carried by the little Misses Mardell Eshman and Elsie Gartner.

A dainty luncheon was served and all present enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. H. P. Dunn, druggist.—Advt.

MEAT BONES.

Many Ways in Which They May Be Utilized as Nourishing Food.

One of the food experts of the United States department of agriculture says that almost any meat bones can be used in soupmaking and if the meat is not all removed from them the soup is better. But some bones, especially the rib bones, if they have a little meat left on them, can be grilled or roasted into very palatable dishes.

The "sparrib" of southern cooks is made of the rib bones from a roast of pork and makes a favorite dish when well browned. The braised ribs of beef often served in high class restaurants are made from the bones cut from rib roasts. In this connection it may be noted that many of the dishes popular in good hotels are made of portions of meat such as are frequently thrown away in private houses, but which with proper cooking and seasoning make attractive dishes and give most acceptable variety to the menu.

An old recipe for "broiled bones" directs that the bones (beef ribs or sirloin bones on which the meat is not left too thick in any part) be sprinkled with salt and pepper (cayenne) and broiled over a clear fire until browned. Another example of the use of bones is boiled marrowbone. The bones are cut in convenient lengths, the ends covered with a little piece of dough over which a floured cloth is tied and cooked in boiling water for two hours. After removing the cloth and dough the bones are placed upright on toast and served. Prepared as above, the bones may also be baked in a deep dish. Marrow is sometimes removed from bones after cooking and seasoned and served on toast.—Pittsburgh Press.

POTATOES AS FOOD.

At First Only the Seed of the Tubers Was Thought Fit to Eat.

When potatoes were first used for food it was the "seed" or "apple" that was used, and it was some time before the tuber was found to be the most delicious food. Up to the end of the seventeenth century the potato was out of the reach of people of moderate incomes. It is recorded that in 1662 potatoes were sold at 1 shilling (25 cents) a pound in the London markets, but the sale was small because so many people believed that the potato caused leprosy and fever. Others declared that they were endangering their souls if they ate the potato, since the tuber was not mentioned in the Bible.

The late Duke of Argyll in his history of Scotland says that little or nothing was known of the potato in Scotland until long past the middle of the eighteenth century. The Duchess of Buccleuch, in her "Household Book" for the year 1701, speaks of the potato as "an excellent of great rarity."

Hugh Miller, in his "Schools and Schoolmasters," says that his maternal grandfather about the year 1740 used to bring home in his pocket some three or four potatoes as great rarities grown by the gentry, for he was a friend of the head gardener at Balmor castle. Thomas Carlyle tells us that his father got possession of four potatoes and knew so little about them that he hid them away for a possible time of want and that potatoes were saved to be eaten at Halloween. There is no doubt that the Irish were the first people to recognize the value of the potato as a staple article of food.—Youth's Companion.

Shower for Bride-to-be

Miss Florence Smith and Miss Mabel Smith entertained Friday evening in honor of their sister, Miss Louise Smith, a bride-to-be of the month. Twenty guests were present and she was showered with many handsome presents of linen, etc.

The evening was spent in music and social converse. Miss May B. Bruce played a piano solo. Miss Mabel Smith and Miss Ida Hoffbauer a piano duet and Miss May B. Bruce and Miss Ida Hoffbauer a piano duet.

After this program there were games and singing. Mrs. Wilbur Smith and Mrs. George Smith assisted in serving a dainty lunch. The tables were decorated with carnations and ferns and at each guest's place was a hand-painted place card. A very pleasant evening was spent by all.

Surprise Party Surprised

Members of the Court of Honor wished to surprise a brother and sister member Friday evening and when all preparations were fully under way were informed that the gentleman and lady to be surprised had removed from their former location. The telephone wires were kept warm calling in the surprise party, but from all accounts two members were missed. As it was the whole surprise party was upset and more surprised than the people they intended to surprise.

Parcel Shower

A parcel shower was given in honor of Miss Marie Hass, on Friday evening, by Mrs. Albert Eshman and Miss Louise Gartner. Miss Hass is to be an October bride.

A musical program was rendered, including piano solos by the Misses Florence Zabel, Mable Mudge, Clara Ehinger, Phoebe Appgar and Josie Swanson, and a vocal solo by Miss Edna Swanson.

The bride-to-be received many pretty and useful presents, which were presented to her in a large decorated basket carried by the little Misses Mardell Eshman and Elsie Gartner.

A dainty luncheon was served and all present enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Notice

To all members of Court Mississippi No. 55, U. O. F., I will be at Geo. F. Murphy's dry goods store, 704 Front street, every payday in the afternoon and evening and also the following Saturday night to collect dues.

Apply Sloan's Freely for Lumbago

Your attacks of lumbago are not nearly so hopeless as they seem. You can relieve them almost instantly by a simple application of Sloan's Liniment on the back and loins. Lumbago is a form of rheumatism, and yields perfectly to Sloan's which penetrates quickly all in through the sore, tender muscles, limbers up the back and makes it feel fine. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. H. P. Dunn, druggist.—Advt. tts

MEAT BONES.

Many Ways In Which They May Be Utilized as Nourishing Food.

One of the food experts of the United States department of agriculture says that almost any meat bones can be used in soup-making and if the meat is not all removed from them the soup is better. But some bones, especially the rib bones, if they have a little meat left on them, can be grilled or roasted into very palatable dishes.

The "spare-rib" of southern cooks is made of the rib bones from a roast of pork and makes a favorite dish when well browned. The braised ribs of beef often served in high class restaurants are made from the bones cut from rib roasts. In this connection it may be noted that many of the dishes popular in good hotels are made of portions of meat such as are frequently thrown away in private houses, but which with proper cooking and seasoning make attractive dishes and give most acceptable variety to the menu.

An old recipe for "broiled bones" directs that the bones (beef ribs or sirloin bones on which the meat is not left too thick in any part) be sprinkled with salt and pepper (cayenne) and broiled over a clear fire until browned.

Another example of the use of bones is boiled marrowbone. The bones are cut in convenient lengths, the ends covered with a little piece of dough over which a floured cloth is tied and cooked in boiling water for two hours. After removing the cloth and dough the bones are placed upright on toast and served. Prepared as above, the bones may also be baked in a deep dish. Marrow is sometimes removed from bones after cooking and seasoned and served on toast.—Pittsburgh Press.

POTATOES AS FOOD.

At First Only the Seed of the Tubers Was Thought Fit to Eat.

When potatoes were first used for food it was the "seed" or "apple" that was used, and it was some time before the tuber was found to be the most delicious food. Up to the end of the seventeenth century the potato was out of the reach of people of moderate incomes. It is recorded that in 1662 potatoes were sold at 1 shilling (25 cents) a pound in the London markets, but the sale was small because so many people believed that the potato caused leprosy and fever. Others declared that they were endangering their souls if they ate the potato, since the tuber was not mentioned in the Bible.

The late Duke of Argyll in his history of Scotland says that little or nothing was known of the potato in Scotland until long past the middle of the eighteenth century. The Duchess of Buccleuch, in her "Household Book" for the year 1701, speaks of the potato as "an esculent of great rarity."

Hugh Miller, in his "Schools and Schoolmasters," says that his maternal grandfather about the year 1740 used to bring home in his pocket some three or four potatoes as great rarities grown by the gentry, for he was a friend of the head gardener at Balmagown castle. Thomas Carlyle tells us that his father got possession of four potatoes and knew so little about them that he hid them away for a possible time of want and that potatoes were saved to be eaten at Halloween. There is no doubt that the Irish were the first people to recognize the value of the potato as a staple article of food.—Youth's Companion.

Thoughtful Dog.

They were swapping dog stories. Abner Morgan had "all the best of it" with his yarns of the extraordinary intelligence exhibited by a collie belonging to his uncle. The others grew restive. Finally John Perkins deemed the moment appropriate wherein to spring a tale that would cap all the others.

"That was a pretty clever dawg, Ab," drawled he, "an' I make no doubt he was just as knowin' as you let on; but, say, he wasn't a marker to a dawg my old man owned. Boys, the devotion of that dawg to the old man was shore amazin'. Once he heard the old man say he was pressed for money, so he went an' died the day before the dog tax was due!" — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Waseca Radical: Honorable F. M. Eddy, who is numbered among the most reliable political prophets, makes the prediction that William E. Lee will be elected governor of Minnesota by a 20,000 or better plurality. Every candidate for office from time immemorial virtuously declares that taxes must be reduced. One would think that with such a unanimity, taxes would be reduced, but instead of that they are increased year by year and one may naturally be forgiven for being skeptical about the sincerity of pre-election pledges of this character.—Elk River Star-News.

Walker Pilot: George Horn, near Pillager, has added a Dunham bull to his herd. George says he certainly made a Lucky Strike when he got the Durham, and hopes to make a little Velvet from now on. He was named the bull Prince Albert and tells his neighbors to look for some Peerless stock down that way next season.

Fergus Falls Journal: Five one-armed men came off of the night trains Monday night and stepped at the Hotel Cecil. Four of them had lost a right arm and one a left arm, and they had formed a company and were traveling across the continent together. These are more one-armed men than have been seen here in a long time before. They have lost their arms in various accidents.

A million a year for elections in Chicago, and the people in that city are getting restless on account of taxation.

WAR BUSINESS PILING UP

Little by little the foreign war markets are opening to us. Here are some big orders either closed or in prospect, as noted in news dispatches of the last few days:

1000 automobile trucks for the use of the French and Russian armies in the transport of troops and supplies; 2,500 automobile frames bought from a Sharon, Pa., firm for the French government;

Several million blankets to be supplied to the French and German armies for their winter campaign, as soon as the agents who have been negotiating with New England manufacturers agree to the proper price;

Flour to the amount of 110,000 barrels ordered from a St. Louis company, to be made of Kansas wheat and rushed to New York for shipment;

100,000 tons of steel sheeting likely to be ordered from Pittsburgh by the British government to build shelters for soldiers during the winter;

1,500,000 towels wanted for the British and French armies, of which half have already been shipped;

1,250,000 yards of cotton cloth suitable for bandages ordered from Fall River, Mass.;

Inquiries received from the Italian government regarding 4,000,000 yards of khaki for army overcoats; And inquiries now being made every day by foreign representatives concerning prices of boots and shoes by the million, and great quantities of flannel for army shirts.

Although the war has thus far inflicted bitter blows on our industries, it may deal with us more kindly from now on.

WILL SOBER RUSSIA UP

Among the monarchs whose thrones are menaced by the war we must not overlook King Alcohol. The domains of that autocrat were once as wide as the world. In recent years they have been narrowed by the secession of many widely scattered provinces. Since the beginning of the present European struggle there has been an epidemic of rebellion.

The most successful of all the campaigns of liberation has been waged in Russia, where Crown Prince Vodka has long tyrannized over a population of more than 100,000,000 peasants. The sale of this cheap and demoralizing spirit is a state monopoly which ordinarily has defrayed nearly one-third of the government's expenses. The imperial policy has been to encourage the sale of it, for the sake of revenue, regardless of its devastating effects.

Two months ago the Czar, as a temporary war measure, issued an edict prohibiting the sale of vodka. The improvement of health, morals and industry of the peasantry has been so rapid and amazing that it is now reported the government will continue the ban on vodka indefinitely when the war is over.

So even war has its uses! In view of the havoc that the drink evil has wrought in Russia, perhaps it is no exaggeration to say that all the cost of this struggle to Russia in life, money and suffering may be compensated by the resulting national sobriety.

And yet—Russia could have sobered up without a war.

The Superior Telegram says that "it is better to be a farmer in northern Wisconsin than in northern France." Granted, but better still a farmer in northern Minnesota.

The war, if continued long, is bound to have an effect on immigration to this country in years to come and will diminish the number of men eligible to pass inspection as immigrants. It is the flower of the country that is taking part in the conflict now raging and the number is being fast diminished.

According to the Pioneer Press, there is going to be a lively scramble for Senator Clapp's seat in the United States senate two years from now. A big list of candidates will insure Senator Clapp's re-election, and the Pioneer has the following already listed: Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor; George T. Simpson, Minneapolis, former attorney general; W. S. Dwinell, Minneapolis, state senator; James A. Peterson, Minneapolis, candidate against Senator Nelson two years ago; Samuel R. Van Sant, Minneapolis, former governor; James A. Tawney, Winona, former congressman; Frank K. Kellogg, St. Paul, attorney for the government in the Standard Oil prosecution and famous as a "trust buster," and Governor Adolph O. Eberhart.

YOUR attention is respectfully called to an important point not generally known, that a laxative should have a tonic element to successfully meet constipation.

Mr. John B. Capers, of 610 Pecan St., Fort Worth, Texas, had a significant experience in this particular. He was afflicted with a severe case of constipation and bowel trouble. He spent a good deal of money in trying to find a remedy. To his astonishment, Peruna very quickly relieved him of his bad symptoms. This happened a number of years ago. Since then, Mr. Capers states that he has had similar attacks of trouble, the prominent symptom of which is constipation, and has always found prompt and efficient relief from Peruna. He says: "Up to the time I started using your Peruna I could drink castor oil like water. It did no good. As for salts, they were of no use. Physicists of all kinds and classes were used, but we had to call on the fountain syringe for help." Peruna was able to correct this condition completely in Mr. Capers' case, and there is every reason to believe that it was the tonic qualities of Peruna, added to the laxative qualities, that procured this very desirable result.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Waseca Radical: Honorable F. M. Eddy, who is numbered among the most reliable political prophets, makes the prediction that William E. Lee will be elected governor of Minnesota by a 20,000 or better plurality.

Every candidate for office from time immemorial virtuously declares that taxes must be reduced. One would think that with such a unanimity, taxes would be reduced, but instead of that they are increased year by year and one may naturally be forgiven for being skeptical about the sincerity of pre-election pledges of this character.—Elk River Star-News.

Walker Pilot: George Horn, near Pillager, has added a Durham bull to his herd. George says he certainly made a Lucky Strike when he got the Durham, and hopes to make a little velvet from now on. He was named the bull Prince Albert and tells his neighbors to look for some Peerless stock down that way next season.

Fergus Falls Journal: Five one-armed men came off of the night train Monday night, and stopped at the Hotel Cecil. Four of them had lost a right arm and one a left arm, and they had formed a company and were traveling across the continent together. These are more one-armed men than have been seen here in a long time before. They have lost their arms in various accidents.

A million a year for elections in Chicago, and the people in that city are getting restless on account of taxation.

WAR BUSINESS PILING UP

Little by little the foreign war markets are opening to us. Here are some big orders either closed or in prospect, as noted in news dispatches of the last few days:

1000 automobile trucks for the use of the French and Russian armies in the transport of troops and supplies; 2,500 automobile frames bought from a Sharon, Pa., firm for the French government;

Several million blankets to be supplied to the French and German armies for their winter campaign, as soon as the agents who have been negotiating with New England manufacturers agree to the proper price;

Flour to the amount of 110,000 barrels ordered from a St. Louis company, to be made of Kansas wheat and rushed to New York for shipment;

100,000 tons of steel sheeting likely to be ordered from Pittsburgh by the British government to build shelters for soldiers during the winter; 1,500,000 towels wanted for the British and French armies, of which half have already been shipped;

1,250,000 yards of cotton cloth suitable for boudages offered from Fall River, Mass.;

Inquiries received from the Italian government regarding 4,000,000 yards of khaki for army overcoats; And inquiries now being made every day by foreign representatives concerning prices of boots and shoes by the million, and great quantities of flannel for army shirts.

Although the war has thus far inflicted bitter blows on our industries, it may deal with us more kindly from now on.

WILL SOBER RUSSIA UP

Among the monarchs whose thrones are menaced by the war we must not overlook King Alcohol. The domains of that autocrat were once as wide as the world. In recent years they have been narrowed by the secession of many widely scattered provinces. Since the beginning of the present European struggle there has been an epidemic of rebellion.

The most successful of all the campaigns of liberation has been waged in Russia, where Crown Prince Vodka has long tyrannized over a population of more than 100,000,000 peasants. The sale of this cheap and demoralizing spirit is a state monopoly which ordinarily has defrayed nearly one-third of the government's expenses. The imperial policy has been to encourage the sale of it, for the sake of revenue, regardless of its devastating effects.

Two months ago the Czar, as a temporary war measure, issued an edict prohibiting the sale of vodka. The improvement of health, morals and industry of the peasantry has been so rapid and amazing that it is now reported the government will continue the ban on vodka indefinitely when the war is over.

So even war has its uses! In view of the havoc that the drink evil has wrought in Russia, perhaps it is no exaggeration to say that all the cost of this struggle to Russia in life, money and suffering may be compensated by the resulting national sobriety.

And yet—Russia could have sobered up without a war.

The Superior Telegram says that "It is better to be a farmer in northern Wisconsin than in northern France." Granted, but better still a farmer in northern Minnesota.

The war, if continued long, is bound to have an effect on immigration to this country in years to come and will diminish the number of men eligible to pass inspection as immigrants. It is the flower of the country that is taking part in the conflict now raging and the number is being fast diminished.

According to the Pioneer Press, there is going to be a lively scramble for Senator Clapp's seat in the United States senate two years from now. A big list of candidates will insure Senator Clapp's re-election, and the Pioneer has the following already listed: Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor; George T. Simpson, Minneapolis, former attorney general; W. S. Dwinell, Minneapolis, state senator; James A. Peterson, Minneapolis, candidate against Senator Nelson two years ago; Samuel R. Van Sant, Minneapolis, former governor; James A. Tawney, Winona, former congressman; Frank K. Kellogg, St. Paul, attorney for the government in the Standard Oil prosecution and famous as a "trust buster," and Governor Adolph O. Eberhart.

HELP WANTED IN BRAINERD

And Furnished by the Help of Brainerd People

Those who suffer with kidney backache, urinary ills or any little kidney or bladder disorder, want kidney help. Who can better advise than some Brainerd resident, who has also suffered, but has had relief. Brainerd people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's one case and there are many others.

Peter Abear, Main St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "Last winter I was in bad shape with kidney and bladder complaint. It hurt me to bend over. The pains in my sides and hips were hard to endure, and when I caught cold the trouble was worse. Soon after using Doan's Kidney Pills I got relief. Since then I have procured Doan's Kidney Pills at H. P. Dunn's drug store and have taken them off and on for a few days. They have always helped me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Abear had. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

DEVELOPMENTS OF WEEK ON RANGE

Hill Crest Pit Mine to Start up Just West of Ironton, Roger Hill Interests

COUNTY POOR FARM 6TH HOLE

School of Mines Compile Set of Blue Print Maps of the Cuyuna Iron Range

The Hill Crest mine is the name of the new pit mine to be established just west of Ironton by Roger Hill of the C. M. Hill Lumber Co. in the east half of the east half of section 9, township 46, range 29. Drifting is now being done to find a dumping ground for the overburden. Brush is being cleared from a forty acre tract.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Cuyuna-Duluth mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing Co. have increased their outputs following a visit of the president and other officials from Philadelphia.

A number of options are reported to have been surrendered by the Northwestern Improvement Co. and the Inter State Iron company. Geo. Hamelin has released to Peder L. Osland an option on the north half of the northeast quarter of section 24, township 46, range 28. George Hamelin also released to C. M. Peterson an option on lot 2 and the west half of the southeast quarter of section 27, township 46, range 28. A. J. Irwick released to Walter B. Jordan, Jr., trustee, the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 16, township 46, range 28. William A. Kerr and others released an option to Adolph J. Irwick on the same described land. Martin Frank has executed an option to Joseph Weinberg and covering the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 34, township 138, range 26.

At the Armour No. 1 mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore Co. considerable of the stockpile remains which was accumulated last year. No shipping was done this season. The mine buildings have recently been repaired and repainted and some work done on the boilers. At the Armour No. 2 the stockpile has been shipped and the mine is hoisting from shaft to waiting cars. At the Kennedy mine some of the stockpile remains which many expect will be shipped over the Northern Pacific railway. The mine is hoisting from shaft to cars. It is reported that Chester D. Tripp, president of the company, has offered his resignation.

The Croft mine is a busy place in Crosby. The huge cement and steel chimney is completed. A steel water tank of a capacity of 150,000 gallons has been built. Work on the steel-concrete shaft is under way. The shaft now being over 15 feet deep. The steel shoe for the shaft is on the ground. The Meacham mine did not ship this year.

Considerable drilling has been done on the range. This includes Osterberg & Osterberg who are running two drills in section 33, township 47, range 29. The Harker Exploration Co. has a drill in section 22, township 47, range 29. The Carlson Exploration Co. has two drills in section 24, township 46, range 30. The Duluth Diamond Drilling Co. is drilling for David T. Adams, of Chicago, in section 19, township 46, range 29. The Zenith Exploration Co. has three drills working in section 27, township 47, range 29.

John Wahl and C. A. Britts, of Duluth, were at Barrows this week. The Barrows Mining Co. in section 16 south of the Northern Pacific depot is now drilling in hole A. No. 3 and some very good ore is reported as being found, some going 65 per cent in iron. Ore is 100 feet from the surface. At the Barrows-Mississippi Iron Co. property in section 9 adjoining Wodland Park addition to Barrows the drill is on its fourth hole and at this time is still in the surface. William Seafeld, of the Seafeld Exploration Co., of Barrows, was on the ground this week examining the work done by his drills. The Brainerd Mining company has been drilling on its lands north of Barrows.

The Longyear Exploration Co. has just completed its sixth hole on the Crow Wing county poor farm. It was put down 364 feet and 25 feet of good ore found. The company is to sink nine holes and if satisfactory may call for a mining lease from the county.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd is averaging two feet a day in its shaft sinking operations. A timber drop shaft is being sunk under the supervision of D. C. Peacock, who was so successful in sinking a shaft at the Wilcox mine in Woodrow.

At the Wilcox mine their shaft is now down to 200 feet level and a

BOSTON BRAVES ARE VICTORS OVER PLANK

Special to The Dispatch:—

Boston 000 000 001 1 7 1
Philadelphia 000 000 000 0 2 1
Batteries: Boston, James and Gowdy; Philadelphia, Plank and Schang.

The Boston Braves were victorious again today and won the game by a score of 1 to 0. It was a hard fought game and neither side scored until in the ninth inning when the Boston Braves got the one score which decided the game. The winning run in the ninth was made by Deal.

James pitched for Boston and allowed but 2 hits. Plank was on the slab for Philadelphia and allowed 7 hits. One error was made on each side.

water pump has also been finished. Timber for the station is on the ground. The station will be completed on October 15. The head frame and shaft house are to be finished by November 15. The mine is to be pumped by electricity and the electric pump will be installed as soon as the station is finished. A. W. Mackay, secretary and treasurer of the Paterson Construction Co., goes east shortly.

The Star Iron Mining company will hold a meeting at the office of the Seafeld Exploration Co. in Ironton on Tuesday morning. The Adams mine at Oreland has closed for the season. The Inland Steel Co. Thompson mine is shipping about 60 cars a day. J. H. Block of Chicago, and other officials were at the mine this week. The Rowe pit mine is shipping steadily. The Eureka Mining company of Minneapolis, is reported to have bought out the Atkin Exploration Co. They have a drill in operation.

The School of Mines of the University of Minnesota, has compiled a set of blue print maps showing the mining districts of the state. These cover the Mesabi, Vermilion and the Cuyuna ranges in a thorough manner. The state tax commission is reviewing Cuyuna range assessments. Its report is awaited with much interest.

A section of the country being explored is situated in the north end of Crow Wing county. At Emily the W. A. Rouchleau interests of Minneapolis have had three drills at work for a considerable length of time. Six miles west H. J. Kruss has two drills at work near Little Pipe.

In common with other industries there may have been retrenchments in mining and exploration operations on the Cuyuna iron range, but that does not remove the fact that the ore is there and that a rising market and demand will cause renewed activity. The European war has caused a slump in Mesabi activities and has affected other ranges too. It is believed the shipping season will set a new mark for early closing.

Visitors on the range this week were David T. Adams of Chicago, G. H. Lyons of Omaha, Neb., Mr. Shemmel of Bancroft, Iowa, H. J. Cooke, ore agent of the Northern Pacific railway.

Shaft No. 2 of the Cuyuna-Sultana Iron company is now fairly under way. This shaft is 6 by 8½ feet in the clear and is located about 400 feet east of the west line and 300 feet south of the north line of the forty. This shaft is sufficiently large to be available for future mining operations and it can also be used as a timber or pump shaft for ventilation.

It is now 26 feet in depth and progress is being made at the rate of three or four feet per shift. The ore body should be reached not later than November 1st. The work at this shaft was started on September 24th and on October 1st, machinery and head-frame had been erected and the shaft sunk and timbered to a depth of 6 feet. Captain Kitto, who has charge of the work, is highly pleased with the progress made.

It is the intention of this company to strip the northern part of the forty the coming winter, in order to get the property in shape to enter the shipping list early next season. The ore is magnificent and low in phosphorus in fact, almost identical in grade and structure with the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs ore, which mine is situated on the same ore body. The milling method will undoubtedly be used in mining this property.

The Iron Trade Review says that the extreme dullness in the pig-iron market is reflected in the decreased production by the blast furnaces for September, when the output was 1,382,718 tons, a loss of 113,765 tons, compared with the preceding month. There was a loss of seven in the number of active stocks.

There is some increase in shipments to foreign countries, but man-

Chief Bender is Connie Mack's best world's series bet. As a hurler in the title series the Chief uniformly has delivered the goods. Mack has been giving him a rest before the big test. The Chief has won seven-teen and lost only three games this year.

The Brainerd Dispatch is greatly indebted to the St. Paul Pioneer Press for the above picture. The Pioneer Press is one of the best boosters for Joe Bullet Bush and Bender in the entire Northwest.

Chief Bender was born at Brainerd, May 5, 1883. He is a full blooded Chippewa Indian. He played first base at Carlisle, then became a substitute pitcher. Went to Dickinson college, Pa., in 1902 and was signed by Connie Mack in 1903. Poor health at first handicapped Bender, but he came back strong and won the only contest taken by the Athletics in the post season club with New York in 1905. Bender and Eddie Plank have been the slab mainstays of the Athletics in their recent triumphs. Bender has helped the Athletics win three world's series and is the most reliable slaban for Philadelphia in its approaching test with the Boston Braves.

Contrary to all hope the Boston National league pennant winners easily ran away with the Philadelphia Athletics on Friday, defeating them 7 to 1. The Bostons drove Bender, the Athletics' star right-hander, from the mound by terrific hitting, which the Braves pieced together when hit s meant runs.

Gowdy was the premier hitter for the Bostons, getting three safe blows in three times at bat. One of Gowdy's hits was a double, and another a three-bagger, his third hit being a single.

Rudolph pitched a game of first water for his club. The Athletics were held spellbound by his slow ball, which came up to the plate as big as a toy balloon. The Athletics' best hitters could do nothing with his delivery.

However, Brainerd fans are not downcast over Bender's defeat. The man who secured victory for Connie Mack on so many other occasions, will come-back and give the Braves a drubbing before the series are over.

WOODMEN PLAN ON BIG BANQUET

Jubilee Banquet to be Given at Gardner Auditorium on Tuesday Evening, October 20th

Interpretation of Law is that Spuds Sold in the Open Market When Sacked be Marked

Of interest to local potato dealers, says the Grand Rapids Herald, is a recent interpretation of the Federal law which provides that potatoes sold in the open market in sacks and bags or in any package form, must bear on the outside of the package the quantity of contents. In the opinion of the secretary of agriculture, potatoes in sacks are a food in package form within the meaning of the law, and should be marked with the quantity of the contents in accordance with the regulations.

RICHEST ISLAND ON EARTH.

Yet Java, With Its Amazing Crops, Hardly Pays the Dutch.

"Java has a population of more than 40,000,000. It is a Dutch possession and the richest island on earth," says a man who has spent most of his life there. "The governor general has nine palaces in different parts of the island and a regiment of soldiers to escort him from one to another. Two-fifths of the sugar of the world is produced in Java. Labor costs little or nothing. The natives work for something like $2.50 a year. The principal products are sugar, cotton, rice, cashu nuts and citronella. Of the total population there are probably 30,000,000 Javanese, and the rest are Chinese and Portuguese. The white population numbers about 150,000, mostly Dutch, and there are few Americans. The immensity of the production of Java may be estimated from the fact that the internal revenue is nearly $200,000,000.

"Notwithstanding the big population, the richness of the soil and the great productivity Java is hardly a paying possession to the Dutch. It takes all that Java yields to pay the expenses of fighting the natives of the other islands, like Flores, where the inhabitants are savages, mostly head hunters. Borneo is the largest island in the south sea, but its population is small compared with that of Java.

"Under the conditions of civilization it is surprising, perhaps, that the standard of morals among the natives is high, yet it is a fact. Violation of the marriage contract is almost unheard of."—Washington Post.

DEVELOPMENTS OF WEEK ON RANGE

Hill Crest Pit Mine to Start up Just West of Ironton, Roger Hill Interests

School of Mines Compile Set of Blue Print Maps of the Cuyuna Iron Range

The Hill Crest mine is the name of the new pit mine to be established just west of Ironton by Roger Hill of the C. M. Hill Lumber Co. in the east half of the east half of section 9, township 46, range 29. Drilling is now being done to find a dumping ground for the overburden. Brush is being cleared from a forty acre tract.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Cuyuna-Duluth mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing Co. have increased their outputs following a visit of the president and other officials from Philadelphia.

A number of options are reported to have been surrendered by the Northwestern Improvement Co. and the Inter State Iron company. Geo. Hamelin has released to Peder L. Osland an option on the north half of the northeast quarter of section 24, township 46, range 28. George Hamelin also released to C. M. Peterson an option on lot 2 and the west half of the southeast quarter of section 27, township 46, range 28. A. J. Irwick released to Walter B. Jordan, Jr., trustee, the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 16, township 46, range 28. William A. Kerr and others released an option to Adolph J. Irwick on the same described land. Martin Frank has executed an option to Joseph Weinberg and covering the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 34, township 138, range 26.

At the Armour No. 1 mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore Co. considerable of the stockpile remains which was accumulated last year. No shipping was done this season. The mine buildings have recently been repaired and repainted and some work done on the boilers. At the Armour No. 2 the stockpile has been shipped and the mine is hoisting from shaft to waiting cars. At the Kennedy mine some of the stockpile remains which many expect will be shipped over the Northern Pacific railway. The mine is hoisting from shaft to cars. It is reported that Chester D. Tripp, president of the company, has offered his resignation.

The Croft mine is a busy place in Crosby. The huge cement and steel chimney is completed. A steel water tank of a capacity of 150,000 gallons has been built. Work on the steel-concrete shaft is under way. The shaft now being over 15 feet deep. The steel shoe for the shaft is on the ground. The Meacham mine did not ship this year.

Considerable drilling has been done on the range. This includes Osterberg & Osterberg who are running two drills in section 33, township 47, range 29. The Harker Exploration Co. has a drill in section 22, township 47, range 29. The Carlson Exploration Co. has two drills in section 24, township 46, range 30. The Duluth Diamond Drilling Co. is drilling for David T. Adams, of Chicago, in section 19, township 46, range 29. The Zenith Exploration Co. has three drills working in section 27, township 47, range 29.

John Wahl and C. A. Britts, of Duluth, were at Barrows this week. The Barrows Mining Co. in section 16 south of the Northern Pacific depot is now drilling in hole A. No. 3 and some very good ore is reported as being found, some going 65 percent in iron. Ore is 100 feet from the surface. At the Barrows-Mississippi Iron Co. property in section 9 adjoining Woodland Park addition to Barrows the drill is on its fourth hole and at this time is still in the surface. William Seafeld, of the Seafeld Exploration Co., of Barrows, was on the ground this week examining the work done by his drills. The Brainerd Mining company has been drilling on its lands north of Barrows.

The Longyear Exploration Co. has just completed its sixth hole in the Crow Wing county poor farm. It was put down 364 feet and 25 feet of good ore found. The company is to sink nine holes and if satisfactory may call for a mining lease from the county.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd is averaging two feet a day in its shaft sinking operations. A timber drop shaft is being sunk under the supervision of D. C. Peacock, who was so successful in sinking a shaft at the Wilcox mine in Woodrow.

At the Wilcox mine their shaft is

BOSTON BRAVES ARE VICTORS OVER PLANK

Special to The Dispatch:—

Boston000 000 001 1 7 1
Philadelphia.....000 000 000 0 2 1

Batteries: Boston, James and Gowdy; Philadelphia, Plank and Schang.

The Boston Braves were victorious again today and won the game by a score of 1 to 0. It was a hard fought game and neither side scored until in the ninth inning when the Boston Braves got the one score which decided the game. The winning run in the ninth was made by Deal.

water sump has also been finished. Timber for the station is on the ground. The station will be completed on October 15. The head frame and shaft house are to be finished by November 15. The mine is to be pumped by electricity and the electric pump will be installed as soon as the station is finished. A. W. Mackay, secretary and treasurer of the Paterson Construction Co., goes east shortly.

The Star Iron Mining company will hold a meeting at the office of the Seafeld Exploration Co. in Ironton on Tuesday morning. The Adams mine at Oreland has closed for the season. The Inland Steel Co. Thompson mine is shipping about 60 cars a day. J. L. Block of Chicago, and other officials were at the mine this week. The Rowe pit mine is shipping steadily. The Eureka Mining company of Minneapolis, is reported to have bought out the Aitkin Exploration Co. They have a drill in operation.

The School of Mines of the University of Minnesota, has compiled a set of blue print maps showing the mining districts of the state. These cover the Mesabi, Vermilion and the Cuyuna ranges in a thorough manner. The state tax commission is reviewing Cuyuna range assessments. Its report is awaited with much interest.

A section of the country being explored is situated in the north end of Crow Wing county. At Emily the W. A. Rouchleau interests of Minneapolis have had three drills at work for a considerable length of time. Six miles west H. J. Kruse has two drills at work near Little Pipe.

In common with other industries there may have been retrenchments in mining and exploration operations on the Cuyuna iron range, but that does not remove the fact that the ore is there and that a rising market and demand will cause renewed activity. The European war has caused a slump in Mesabi activities and has affected other ranges too. It is believed the shipping season will set a new mark for early closing.

Visitors on the range this week were David T. Adams of Chicago, G. H. Lyons of Omaha, Neb., Mr. Shemmel of Bancroft, Iowa, H. J. Cooke, ore agent of the Northern Pacific railway.

Shaft No. 2 of the Cuyuna-Sultana Iron company is now fairly under way. This shaft is 6 by 8½ feet in the clear and is located about 400 feet east of the west line and 300 feet south of the north line of the forty. This shaft is sufficiently large to be available for future mining operations and it can also be used as a timber or pump shaft for ventilation. It is now 26 feet in depth and progress is being made at the rate of three or four feet per shift. The ore body should be reached not later than November 1st. In another instant he was battling might and main with three willing ruffians, who had come suddenly into view round a shoulder of rock; but his efforts were short-lived, foredoomed to failure. He was weakened by suffering and fatigue—and the three were fresh and had the courage at least of their numbers. He was overborne in a twinkling, and had his face ground brutally into the sand while his hands were made fast with stout rope behind his back. And when he rose, it was to find, as he had anticipated, that Rose's resistance had been as futile as his own; she, too, was captive, her hands bound like his, the huge and unclean paw of one of Judith's crew cruelly clamped upon her shoulders.

They were granted time to exchange no more than one despairing glance when a curt laugh fairly chilled the blood in Mr. Barcus, and he swung sharply between his two guards to confront Judith Trine.

The woman he saw at first glance, was in one of her most dangerous moods—if, Barcus mentally qualified, there was a pin to choose between her moods. But now, beyond dispute, she exhibited a countenance new in his experience with her, and one well calculated to appal.

Her face was bloodless, even as her lips were white with the curb she put upon her passion. Her eyes were lurid with the glare of rage approaching mania. Her hands trembled, her lips quivered, all her actions were abrupt with nervousness.

He was by no means poor-spirited, but he shrank openly from the look she gave him, and was relieved when she, with a sneer, passed him by and planted herself squarely before her sister.

"Well?" she demanded brusquely. "How much longer do you think I'm going to tolerate your interference—you poor little fool! How many more lessons will you require before realizing that I mean to have my way, and that you'll cross me only to suffer for it?"

The courage of the other girl won the unstinted admiration of Mr. Barcus. Far from cringing, she seemed to find fresh heart in her sister's challenge. Her head was high, her glance level with illimitable contempt as she replied:

"So you've tried again?" she inquired obliquely, with a tone of pity. "You've offered him your love yet another time, have you?"

"Silence!" Judith cried in fury. "Only to learn once more that he would rather die than you?" Rose persisted, unflinching. "And so you come to take your spite out on me, do you? You pitiful thing! Do you think I mind—knowing as I do now that he could never hold you in anything but compassion and contempt?"

For an instant there was silence; by the scorn of her sister the heat of Judith's fury had been transformed into a cold and malignant rage. She controlled herself and her voice marvelously.

"You will see," she said in even and frigid accents. And the light of her mania leaped and leaped again in her eyes like a living flame. "I have prepared a way to make you understand what opposition to me means . . ."

She waved a hand toward the nearer point of rocks. "Take them along," she commanded.

The understanding between her and her men was apparently complete; for these last, without hesitation or further instructions, marched Rose and Barcus down to the end of the spit and on, into the water.

It was nearly knee-deep before Barcus was halted with a savage jerk, backed up to a rock, forced despite his frenzied resistance to sit down in the water, and swiftly, with half a dozen his throat could be so dry, so parched . . .

He opened his eyes, shuddering. "It's good-by now," he faltered.

"Not yet!" his voice rang beside him, vibrant. "Look—up there—along the cliff!"

He lifted his gaze . . .

Two men were running along the cliff—and the man in the lead was Alan. But his lead was very scant, and the man who pursued was one of Judith's, and stuck to the trail like a bloodhound fresh from the leash.

And now the water was at his lips; Barcus could no more speak without straining.

Of a sudden he groaned in his heart; though there was no passable way down the cliff, still the sight of his friend alive and unharmed had brought with it a thrill of hope; now that hope died as he saw Alan stumble and go to his knees.

Before he could rise the other was upon him, with the fury of a wolf seeking the throat of a stag.

attention to Rose, lashing her in similar wise at Barcus' side.

Standing just above the water-line, with every sign of complete calm and sanity other than that ominous flickering in her eyes, Judith superintended the business till its conclusion, then waved the men away.

Quietly, like well-trained servants, they turned their backs and marched off.

And again, after a brief wait, the woman laughed her short and mirthless laugh.

"The tide will be high," she said, "precisely at sunset. You may time your lives by that. When the sun dips into the sea, then will your lives go down with it."

She turned on her heel and strode swiftly away, with not so much as a backward glance, overtook her men, and passed quickly from sight around the farther point of rocks.

For some time Barcus struggled vainly with his bonds. As for Rose, she wasted no strength in struggling—perhaps had none to waste. When he looked her way he saw her exquisite profile unmarred by any line of fear or doubt, sharply relieved against the darkness of the rising flood. Her level gaze without a tremor traversed the shining flood to its far horizon.

He noted that already the waters had risen more than an inch.

Humbled even in his terror by that radiant calm that dwelt upon her, he ventured diffidently: "Rose—Miss Trine—"

She turned her head and found the heart to smile. "Rose," she corrected gently.

"I'm sorry," he said—which was not at all what he had meant to say. "I've done my best. I suppose it's wrong to give up—but they've made it too much for me, this time."

"I know," she said gently. "You?"—he stammered—"you're not afraid?"

"There is nothing to fear," she said, "but death."

"Then," he said more bravely, after a time—the water now was near his chin—"good by—good luck!"

"Not yet, dear friend," she returned, "not yet."

But the sun was perilously close upon the rim of the world. But a little time, and it would be night.

He closed his eyes to shut out the vision of its slow, implacable descent. The water was now almost level with his lips; it seemed strange that

With a violent effort Barcus lifted his mouth above water and shrieked: "Alan! Alan! Help! Here—at the end of the point—in the water—help!"

A precious minute was lost before Alan discovered the two heads, so barely above that swiftly rising flood. Then he ran toward them as he had never run before, and as he came whipped out a jack-knife and freed its blade.

Even so—since it was, of course, Rose whom Alan freed the first—Barcus was half-drowned before Alan helped him in turn up to the beach.

And as this happened the last blood-red rim of the sun was washed under by the waves.

Two minutes later the lifeboat was afloat, and Mr. Barcus, already recovered, was laboring with the flywheel of the motor, stimulated to supreme exertion by the sight of a party, led by Judith, racing madly down the beach.

But it was not until well out from shore and on the way to the safety promised by the mainland—now readily discernible on the horizon—that any one of them found time for speech.

Then Mr. Barcus straightened up from his assiduous attentions to the motor, and observed:

"You bear a charmed life, my adventurous friend. I want to tell you that when I saw you go over that cliff I made up my mind your usefulness would be at least permanently impaired. As it is, I don't mind telling you that if ever I get out of this affair alive, I'm going to have a try at your life myself, just once, for luck!"

SPEECH AND THE CHIN.

Maybe at One Time the Tongue Proved Mightier Than the Teeth.

In man the chin seems to project more and more as he progresses toward his modern civilized condition. This must imply that immediately the huge lower canines degenerated the part took on some other function of vital importance to the race and that the need has increased with his intellectual and social advancement.

My theory, then, is that the chin is essentially a part of the mechanism of articulate speech.

It is tempting to theorize a little further and to suggest that the human chin perhaps bears testimony to a prehistoric change from carnal weapons to others which, if not exactly spiritual, were such as appealed to the part of us where spiritual forces work, for apparently long ago before the pen proved mightier than the sword the tongue proved mightier than the teeth.

If one could only prove this one might show that even before the glacial epoch parliamentary institutions (using the terms in its widest sense) began to take the place of lethal weapons in settling disagreements and that the substitution of arbitration for war is not merely a doctrine of latter day moralists, but is a part of the ordered march of cosmic progress as inevitable as the other evolutionary changes which have brought us up from among the brutes.—Dr. Louis Robinson in North American Review.

Wilson Allows Members of Congress to Repair Fences.

SHARE STAGE WITH WAR.

President's Consent Gained by McAdoo and Burleson, Whom Republicans Call Ambassadors to Congress—Philippine Bill Still Occupies Attention of Congress, but is Not Urgent.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Even the European war is not to deprive the people of this country from reading a little about politics. And the men who are candidates for election are going to make politics the main thing in life for the next month.

Even President Wilson has had to thaw to the extent of consenting to a program which will allow members of congress to go home and look after their elections. This was not brought about until there had been earnest conferences by different members of the cabinet with the president, who represented that it was important to keep the majority members in good humor and not strain too much the relations between the White House and the capitol. The president was not entirely convinced, but two influential members of his cabinet finally gained his consent.

Cabinet Ambassadors.

McAdoo and Burleson are the cabinet ambassadors to congress," remarked one of the Democratic leaders. "They are the men who understand congress and who have influence with the president on congressional subjects. The president has confidence in Burleson's knowledge of congress because the postmaster general was so long a member of the house. Naturally he has confidence in McAdoo, not only because of his business experience, but he ought to have confidence in a son-in-law."

It is generally understood that McAdoo and Burleson had a great deal to do in bringing about the proposed recess.

Texas Politics Disclosed.

Perhaps the part which Burleson played in the matter may account for the position which Congressman Bob Henry of Texas took in the proceedings. Henry insisted that congress should not adjourn until certain legislation in which he was interested, particularly that in which the cotton growers were interested, had received consideration in the house. As chairman of the committee on rules he intended to have his way. Henry is a candidate for the senate, and it is supposed that Burleson will enter the field when the time arrives, and the same contest that existed between them for a place in the cabinet will be fought over for the other office.

A Dig by Jim Mann.

The appearance of Henry in the ring for house regulation gave Minority Leader Mann an opportunity to dig the Texan in the ribs. After Henry had made his statement as to what ought to be done, which was upsetting to the plan which Leader Underwood was trying to put in operation, Mann inquired of Underwood if he had any information regarding a procedure which would allow members to go home.

"Were you addressing me?" asked Henry, who had not understood what was said.

"I was not," replied Mann, with emphasis. "I was addressing the old leader of the majority side of the house."

Henry disclaimed any right to leadership, but Mann had scored a hit.

Humphrey's Discovery.

Congressman Humphrey of Washington was not pleased with the cut made in the river and harbor bill. "I have discovered," he told the house, "that the difference between a 'subsidy' and a 'wise expenditure of public money' depends upon who gets it."

More Reed Sarcasm.

When Jim Reed was tearing into the Democratic party about the trust bill he was subject to many interruptions. Finally he suggested that senators restrain themselves. "These acrimonious interruptions," he said, "are disorders in the melodies I am producing and entirely destroy their soothing effects."

Then the Missouri senator ripped into the Democratic party again.

A Buffer Bill.

No one pretends that the present Philippine bill amounts to anything save that it gives the Philippines a few more offices. That it tends to independence of the islands is doubtful. "Of course it doesn't amount to anything," remarked a member of the president's cabinet, "but it satisfies the Filipinos."

The general impression is that it is a "buffer bill," one of those conveniences which can be brought up in order to keep out other matters. The ironclad rule under which it is being considered confines the debate to the measure, while the nature of the question, especially in view of war conditions—prevents that frank discussion of all things, such as Philippine independence, the guarantee of their neutrality, the worthlessness of treaties as shown by the war, and kindred subjects at this time.

Australian Wells.

Until the settlers in the rolling downs in western Queensland found out that they could get water by means of artesian wells they were seriously thinking of giving up their farms and ranches on account of many successive years of drought. Now there are several hundred such wells in Queensland, from which the settlers get an unfailing supply of water. The deepest well, which is at Bimera, has a depth of 5,045 feet. The shallowest, at Manfred Downs, has a depth of ten feet. The well at Charleville is 1,371 feet deep and produces 3,000,000 gallons a day, the largest flow in the state. The daily flow from all the artesian wells of Queensland is estimated at over half a billion gallons.

There With the Answer.

In a public school one afternoon the teacher was instructing a class in physiology, and finally, in order to test the memory of the youngsters, she closed the book and began to ask questions.

"Willie," said she, addressing a bright faced boy near the head of the class, "can you give me a familiar example of the human body as it adapts itself to changed conditions?"

"Sure!" was the confident rejoinder. "My uncle Jake gained fifty pounds in less than one year, and his skin never cracked."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Buffalo's Hump.

The hump of the buffalo is not a mass of fat, as some people suppose, but is formed by neural spines in length fully double those of domestic cattle, and by the huge muscles which lie alongside and fill up the angle between these neural spines and the ribs.

King's Counsel.

King's counsel differ from all other English lawyers. King's counsel are appointed by patent from the crown, on application from the lord chancellor, and can act as judges of assize when named in the commission. They have in many ways precedence over other lawyers and rank among themselves according to seniority. The robes of king's counsel are of silk instead of stuff like those of ordinary barristers. It is the established rule of the profession that no king's counsel shall conduct any case without the employment of a junior counsel.

Self Government.

We are not propagandists. Wherever other systems are preferred either as being thought better in themselves or as better suited to existing conditions we leave the preference to be enjoyed. Our history hitherto proves, however, that the popular form is practicable and that with wisdom and knowledge men may govern themselves.—Webster.

In another instant he was battling might and main with three willing ruffians, who had come suddenly into view round a shoulder of rock; but his efforts were shortlived, foredoomed to failure. He was weakened with suffering and fatigue—and the three were fresh and had the courage at least of their numbers. He was overborne in a twinkling, and had his face ground brutally into the sand while his hands were made fast with stout rope behind his back. And when he rose, it was to find, as he had anticipated, that Rose's resistance had been as futile as his own; she, too, was captive, her hands bound like his, the huge and unclean paw of one of Judith's crew cruelly clamped upon her shoulders.

They were granted time to exchange no more than one despairing glance when a curt laugh fairly chilled the blood in Mr. Barcus, and he swung sharply between his two guards to confront Judith Trine.

The woman he saw at first glance, was in one of her most dangerous moods—if, Barcus mentally qualified, there was a pin to choose between her moods. But now, beyond dispute, she exhibited a countenance new in his experience with her, and one well calculated to appal.

Her face was bloodless, even as her lips were white with the curb she put upon her passion. Her eyes were lurid with the glare of rage approaching mania. Her hands trembled, her lips quivered, all her actions were abrupt with nervousness.

He was by no means poor-spirited, but he shrank openly from the look she gave him, and was relieved when she, with a sneer, passed him by and planted herself squarely before her elster.

"Well?" she demanded brusquely. "How much longer do you think I'm going to tolerate your interference—your poor little fool! How many more lessons will you require before realizing that I mean to have my way, and that you'll cross me only to suffer for it?"

The courage of the other girl won the unstinted admiration of Mr. Barcus. Far from cringing, she seemed to find fresh heart in her sister's challenge. Her head was high, her glance level with illimitable contempt as she replied:

"So you've tried again?" she inquired obliquely, with a tone of pity. "You've offered him your love yet another time, have you?"

"Silence!" Judith cried in fury. "Only to learn once more that he would rather die than you!" Rose persisted, unflinching. "And so you come to take your spite out on me, do you? You pitiful thing! Do you think I mind—knowing as I do now that he could never hold you in anything but compassion and contempt?"

For an instant there was silence; by the scorn of her sister the heat of Judith's fury had been transformed into a cold and malignant rage. She controlled herself and her voice marvelously.

"You will see," she said in even and frigid accents. And the light of her mania leaped and leaped again in her eyes like a living flame. "I have prepared a way to make you understand what opposition to me means."

She waved a hand toward the nearer point of rocks. "Take them along," she commanded.

The understanding between her and her men was apparently complete; for these last, without hesitation or further instructions, marched Rose and Barcus down to the end of the spit and on, into the water.

It was nearly knee-deep before Barcus was halted with a savage jerk, backed up to a rock, forced despite his frenzied resistance to sit down in the water, and swiftly, with half a dozen attention to Rose, lashing her in similar wise at Barcus's side.

Standing just above the water-line, with every sign of complete calm and sanity other than that ominous flickering in her eyes, Judith superintended the business till its conclusion, then waved the men away.

Quietly, like well-trained servants, they turned their backs and marched off.

And again, after a brief wait, the woman laughed her short and mirthless laugh.

"The tide will be high," she said, "precisely at sunset. You may time your lives by that. When the sun dips into the sea, then will your lives go down with it."

She turned on her heel and strode swiftly away, with not so much as a backward glance, overtook her men, and passed quickly from sight around the farther point of rocks.

For some time Barcus struggled vainly with his bonds. As for Rose, she wasted no strength in struggling—perhaps had none to waste. When he looked her way he saw her exquisite profile unmarred by any line of fear or doubt, sharply relieved against the darkness of the rising flood. Her level gaze without a tremor traversed the shining flood to its far horizon.

He noted that already the waters had risen more than an inch.

Humbled even in his terror by that radiant calm that dwelt upon her, he ventured diffidently: "Rose—Miss Trine—"

She turned her head and found the heart to smile. "Rose," she corrected gently.

"I'm sorry," he said—which was not at all what he had meant to say. "I've done my best. I suppose it's wrong to give up—but they've made it too much for me, this time."

"I know," she said gently. "You"—he stammered—"you're not afraid?"

"There is nothing to fear," she said, "but death."

"Then," he said more bravely, after a time—the water now was near his chin—"good-by—good luck!"

"Not yet, dear friend," she returned, "not yet."

But the sun was perilously close upon the rim of the world. But a little time, and it would be night.

He closed his eyes to shut out the vision of its slow, implacable descent. The water was now almost level with his lips; it seemed strange that his throat could be so dry, so parched.

He opened his eyes, shuddering. "It's good-by now," he faltered.

"Not yet!" her voice rang beside him, vibrant. "Look—up there—along the cliff!"

He lifted his gaze.

Two men were running along the cliff—and the man in the lead was Alan. But his lead was very scant, and the man who pursued was one of Judith's, and stuck to the trail like a bloodhound fresh from the leash.

And now the water was at his lips; Barcus could no more speak without straining.

Of a sudden he groaned in his heart; though there was no passable way down the cliff, still the sight of his friend alive and unharmed had brought with it a thrill of hope; now that hope died as he saw Alan stumble and go to his knees.

Before he could rise the other was upon him, with the fury of a wolf seeking the throat of a stag.

For an instant they fought like madmen; then, in a trice, the eky line of the cliff was empty; one or the other had tripped and fallen over the brink, and falling had retained hold of his enemy and carried him down as well.

By no chance, Barcus told himself, could either escape uninjured.

Yet, to his amazement, he saw one man break from the other's embrace and rise. And he who lay still, a crumpled, inhuman heap upon the sands, was Judith's man.

Already the Waters Had Risen Over an Inch.

This accomplished, the men turned

With a violent effort Barcus lifted his mouth above water and shrieked: "Alan! Alan! Help! Here—at the end of the point—in the water—help!"

A precious minute was lost before Alan discovered their two heads, so barely above that swiftly rising flood. Then he ran toward them as he had never run before, and as he came whipped out a jack-knife and freed its blade.

Even so—since it was, of course, Rose whom Alan freed—the first—Barcus was half-drowned before Alan helped him in turn up to the beach.

Tried It on the Postman.

A young business woman on her way to the car, at closing time, stopped at the box to mail a letter. Just as she was about to drop the letter in the box the collector arrived and, reaching for it, said, "I'll take it."

The young woman looked at him a moment and handed him the letter, with the remark, "Now, don't forget to put that in the postoffice."

The collector looked at her in disgust and said nothing.

"He never saw the joke," the young woman said after she had told the story of the incident. "I suppose he has no women folk in his family who know that the letters they intrust to the men are carried around in their pockets for days before they are mailed."—Columbus Dispatch.

There With the Answer.

In a public school one afternoon the teacher was instructing a class in physiology, and finally, in order to test the memory of the youngsters, she closed the book and began to ask questions.

"Willie," said she, addressing a bright faced boy near the head of the class, "can you give me a familiar example of the human body as it adapts itself to changed conditions?"

"Sure!" was the confident rejoinder. "My uncle Jake gained fifty pounds in less than one year, and his skin never cracked."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Buffalo's Hump.

The hump of the buffalo is not a mass of fat, as some people suppose, but is formed by neural spines in length fully double those of domestic cattle, and by the huge muscles which lie alongside and fill up the angle between these neural spines and the ribs.

King's Counsel.

King's counsel differ from all other English lawyers. King's counsel are appointed by patent from the crown, on application from the lord chancellor, and can act as judges of assize when named in the commission. They have in many ways precedence over other lawyers and rank among themselves according to seniority. The robes of king's counsel are of silk instead of stuff like those of ordinary barristers. It is the established rule of the profession that no king's counsel shall conduct any case without the employment of a junior counsel.

Self Government.

We are not propagandists. Wherever other systems are preferred either as being thought better in themselves or as better suited to existing conditions we leave the preference to be enjoyed. Our history hitherto proves, however, that the popular form is practicable and that with wisdom and knowledge men may govern themselves.—Webster.

Falling Straight Ahead.

Jay Green—I had a ride in my cousin's automobile while I was up in the city. Aaron Alfred—Yo did? How'd seem? Jay Green—Waal, it felt a good deal like fallin' into a mighty deep well, only ye dropped straight ahead instead o' downward.—Chicago News.

His Investment.

"Have you ever invested in bonds?" "Only the bonds of matrimony."—Detroit Free Press.
